

OTTAWA, August 25, 2008—The Canadian Printing Industries Sector Council (CPISC) will release Wednesday the first set of national skill standards for the printing and graphic communications industry.

CPISC has developed new skill standards and occupational profiles to meet the critical human-resource needs of an evolving industry.

The standards will be released during an awards ceremony for the printing industry's first Team Canada Selection Event. The event provides young Canadians working in the printing industry with an opportunity to test their expertise against that of their peers. The winner will join Team Canada at the WorldSkills competition.

When: August 27, at 10 a.m.

Where: Heidelberg Canada
6265 Kenway Drive
Mississauga, ON (Demonstration Room)

Attending:

Mr. Jeff Ekstein and Mr. Duncan Brown, CPISC Co-Chairs

Ms. Marie Eveline, CPISC Executive Director

Mr. Shaun Thorson, Skills/Compétences Canada Executive Director
