FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE | October 25, 2011

Gillian Mothersill joins CPISC's Board of Directors

Ottawa, ON – The Canadian Printing Industries Sector Council (CPISC) is pleased to announce Gillian Mothersill's appointment to the Council's Board of Directors. Gillian has been involved in the Council for a number of years and joins its team of dedicated board members from the printing and graphic communications industry.

Gillian Mothersill is the Associate Dean, Faculty and Student Affairs, for the Faculty of Communication & Design at Ryerson University. Born in British Columbia, Gillian is a graduate of the Graphic Communications Management program at Ryerson, and holds an MBA from Queen's University. She is an Associate Professor in the School of Graphic Communications Management, and sits on the Program Advisory Committee for the Illustration program at Sheridan College. Gillian has been actively involved with CPISC, having been a member of the Accreditation Project Working Group and a member of the National Education Committee. She is currently the Chair of the Labour Market Information Project Working Group.

Gillian replaces retiring ex-officio board member Willem Sijpbeer, former Academic Chair for the Journalism and Digital Graphics Communication Programs at SAIT Polytechnic (Rted), who served on CPISC's Board of Directors for four years.

The Canadian Printing Industries Sector Council (CPISC) is a national organization that collaborates with printing and graphic communications industry employers, employees, educators, suppliers and representatives of governments to create and implement innovative strategies for skills development and progressive HR management practices. In doing so, CPISC enables all key players in the printing and graphic communications industry to work together in partnership to improve the quality of the industry's current and future workforce.
